OYSTER GROUND TAXATION

Former Governor Would Let Board of Equalization Do it.

Woodruff Stands Pat on Message - Cites Big Income Berived by Rhode

The problem of how to bring about former Governor Rollin S. Woodruff's recommendation for a more just taxation of the oyster grounds of the state and which is now before a committee of the legislature, is a very simple mat-ter, according to the statement of Gov-ernor Woodruff made yesterday. It simply requires the repeal of the pres-ent laws and placing the power of tax-ation in the hands of the board of equalization which now assess the taxes against all other income giving corporations to the state.

When interviewed Governor Wood ruff stated that his position had not changed one lota from the stand he had previously made on the taxation of the oyster grounds. He recited how Rhode Island with one-fourth of how Rhode Island with one-fourth of the acreage of Connecticut gets an in-come of over $100,000 a year and this state gets only $9,000 or thereabouts. The trouble in this state is that while Connecticut sells its oyster grounds for $1 an acre Rhode Island leases its nd at an annual rental of from $5 0. The question is therefore one of taxation in this state with the ther query as by whom the taxation shall be made.

shall be made.

"Under the present system," said the governor. "The clerk of the shellfish commissioner is the assessor. The commission itself is simply a board of relief or a board of appeals. There are mortgages on many of the Connecticut grounds that are for many times the amount of the tax assessments and valuation and therefore it must appear that the assessment is somewhere wrong. The question before the legislature is how can a solution by arrived at. As a possible suggestion and one which I think is very practical I believe that the repeal of the law making the clerk the assessor and the commissioners a board of relief and a new law placing the powers with the board of equalization would solve the problem.

"The board of equalization now fix-lem.

"The board of equalization now fixes the taxes paid to the state by all railroad, street railway surance companies and in fact all incoming producing sources of the state. Why shouldn't it then fix the assessments on the oyster industry as it does on other business. I think it is the proper body to have charge of this matter. er body to have charge of this matter.

The state then will get its just due from this industry. That in my opinion would be the most simple way out of it and have the best results for all

LAST REMNANT OF SECOND OC CUPATION NOW REMOVED AND CUBA IS AGAIN FREE.

(Special from United Press.)

Havana, April 1.—The United States transports McClellan and Sumner sailed to-day having as passengers the 837 officers and men comprising the Twenty-Seventh Infantry and the Second Battalion of Engineers, the last remnant of the American army of pacification. With the sailing of the transports the last vestige of the second intervention by the United States was removed. Cuba is now left to was removed. Cuba is now left to herself in truth as well as in theory. The Cuban flag now floats over Camp Columbia and the American military uniform, for so long regarded as the real emblem of power in the islands is no longer to be found.

General Barry, who commanded the army of pacification, sailed to-day for Tampa aboard the Mascote.

Camp Columbia will continue to be a military barracks. The headquarters of the Cuban army will hereafter be in Havana, instead of Marianao, only a guard being maintained at the latter place. A large part of the army which has been kept at Fort Cabanas will be moved to Camp Columbia on account of the healthfulness of the latter place, its accessability and capacity for drill.

BILL RESTRICTS JUNK DEALERS

and "beating" it to the banks of the rivulets and streams so abundant in the vicinity of Bridgeport.

This has not been a severe winter and there is no snow on the ground, even in remote country districts so that the brooks will "open up" early this spring, according to opinions and signs for good or bad outlooks in the fishing arena.

If the weather remains cold at the rivulets and stream of the brooks will to regulate the operations of junk dealers in the state, aimed princ'pally to prevent them from being fences for metal thieves.

They are prevented from breaking up or melting the metals that come into their possession till inspected by an officer.
